Obedience

Dennis Lowe

Many people today seem to think that “close is good enough” when it comes to religion. When it comes to following God’s commands, however, obedience is only obedience when it is complete. In 1 Samuel 15, King Saul is told to go and utterly destroy the Amalekites and all that they have (verse 3). In verse 9 we read that “Saul and the people spared Agag, and the best of the sheep, the oxen, the fatlings, the lambs, and all that was good, and were unwilling to utterly destroy them. But everything despised and worthless, that they utterly destroyed.” In verse 11 God tells the prophet Samuel, “I greatly regret that I have set up Saul as king, for he has turned back from following Me, and has not performed My commandments.” When confronted by Samuel, King Saul says, “I have performed the commandments of the Lord.” (verses 13 and 20). Later Saul recognizes that his obedience has not been complete and that he has “transgressed the command of the Lord”. In like manner, when our obedience to the commands of God is incomplete or half-hearted, we are guilty of transgressing God’s law. Doing most, but not all, of what God commands is not obedience. Naaman was not cleansed of his leprosy until he dipped in the proper river the commanded number of times (2 Kings 5). The walls of Jericho did not fall down until the Israelites had circled the city the commanded number of times (Joshua 6). We cannot go to heaven unless we, too, strive to do ALL that God commands us.

A Lesson In Humility

Rob Albright

In John 13:1-17 we notice Jesus washing the disciples' feet and He did this to teach a lesson on humility. We know that at least two of the disciples were thinking about how they could obtain first place in the kingdom. The other disciples found out what was on their mind and became indignant (Matthew 20:20-28) with the two brothers.

The selfish thinking needed to be dealt with. Jesus, in this act of humility, displayed a lesson they needed to learn and we need to learn, as fellow disciples of Jesus.

Jesus taught them (and us) that true greatness is not about being served, but of serving. Jesus cared about others and served others by feeding the hungry, healing the sick, lame, and blind. When Jesus gave His life for the sins of the world, He displayed humility.

After He washed the disciples feet, he said, "I have given you an example that you also should do just as I have done for you" (John 13:15). The washing of feet was not an act of worship but it was a demonstration of the attitude we need to have with one another.

We have to be careful to not be so filled with pride that we cannot do a menial task. If the King of the kingdom could wash feet, then no service to others should be beneath our dignity.
